The Wayne County Heritage Book Committee

In May 1982 The Wayne County Heritage Book Committee was formed for the purpose of publishing a book to be named "The Wayne County Heritage - North Carolina." The Committee consisted of members from the Wayne County Historical Association and The Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society. The Co-Editors for The Wayne County Heritage Book Committee were Mary Johnstone from the Wayne County Historical Association and Charlotte Carrere from The Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society. Marvin Woodard was selected for Treasurer of The Wayne County Heritage Book Committee.

A contract in the amount of $60,000.00 was negotiated with Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem to publish 2000 copies of the book.

In the beginning it was agreed that the profits, if any, from the book would be divided equally between the Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society and the Wayne County Historical Association. It was estimated that the profit might amount to approximately $10,000.00, or about $5,000.00 for each of the two organizations, when all the books were sold.

Recently the Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society requested the Board of Directors of the Wayne County Historical Association to divide the available funds of the Wayne County Heritage Book Committee, and that the portion belonging to The Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society be transferred from the bank account of the Wayne County Heritage Book Committee to the Treasurer of the Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society. Accordingly a division of the account was made of the balance in the account on December 31, 1988. The balance at that time was $6,386.43. The check of the Wayne County Heritage Book Committee in the amount of $3,193.21 was issued to the Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society.

The Wayne County Historical Association's portion, in the same amount, remains in the bank account of the Wayne County Heritage Book Committee.

As of April 1989 there are 125 copies of the book remaining to be sold. When these are sold, a further division of the profits can be made.

When funds are transferred from the Wayne County Heritage Book Committee account to the Old Dobbs County Genealogical Society or the Wayne County Historical Association they should be handled by the Treasurer of those organizations.

The Dickson family of Duplin County

The Dickson family of Duplin County was one of the most widely connected and prominent families in Colonial and Antebellum Duplin. Among the numerous descendants are the McGowan, Sloan, Graham, as well as the Owen Rand Kenan (member of Confederate Congress) families.

The first known member of the family was Simon Dickson, who was born in England C. 1607, served as an officer in Cromwell's Army, and was given a land grant near Dromore, in Down County, Ireland. He married and had several children among whom was a son, Joseph Dickson Sr. Joseph Dickson married and had many children and died at the age of 94 in Ireland. Among those children was a son, Michael Dickson who married, had children and died at 84, which was a ripe old age for the 17th century. Michael Dickson had a son, John Dickson (1704-1774).

John Dickson migrated from Ireland to Chester County, Pennsylvania, in 1738, where a number of Irish families were already living. He later moved to Maryland, and in the early 1740's he moved to Duplin County (then New Hanover) and received large land grants on Goshen Swamp east of Faison. He married and had the following eight children: Michael, William, Robert, Joseph, Alexander, Edward, James and Mary.

Michael Dickson moved to Georgia about the time of the American Revolution, married and had a large family, but we have no further record of the family. William Dickson (1740-1820) married Mary Williams, settled on Goshen and the census of 1790 shows 11 in his family and 31 slaves. We know nothing about his formal education but the late James O. Carr said of him, "He was a man of broad ideas, mature judgment and profound wisdom; and he discussed political affairs with intuitive knowledge and foresight that was remarkable." In writing a relative in Ireland in 1790, and in commenting on the Federal Constitution he predicted that the southern states would not receive equal benefit in the government with the northern states and that the north would eventually demand the emancipation of slavery. William Dickson was a member of all four Provincial Congresses, served in the military during the Revolution and was Clerk of the Court for Duplin for nearly 40 years.

Robert Dickson was married to Catherine Pearsall and moved to Virginia, but returned to Duplin in 1784. He represented Duplin in the legislature for six terms. He left many descendants.

Joseph Dickson was married to Mildred Gillespie and had eight sons and one daughter, Anne. He served as register of deeds, county surveyor and represented Duplin in the legislature. His daughter, Anne was married to James Pearsall and left many descendants. Late in life Joseph Dickson and his sons moved to central Tennessee where they established large estates. Dickson County, Tennessee, is named for the family.

Alexander Dickson married and settled near Kenansville but had no children. He left his property to an educational fund. He is buried at the Rutledge Cemetery near Kenansville. Edward Dickson married and settled in Duplin. He had at least three children: Rebecca, Elizabeth, and Ann.

James Dickson, the youngest son, married and inherited his father's plantation which was plundered by the British in 1781. By 1784, he had five children: Edward, Eleanor, Margaret, William, and Alexander. The census of 1790 reports 13 children in the family.

Mary Dickson, the only daughter of John Dickson (1704-1774), was married in 1769 to William McGowan, a son of William McGowan Sr. who received a land grant in New Hanover County in 1743. William McGowan Jr. purchased land on Grove Swamp in 1771. William and Mary McGowan had the following children: John McGowan who married Mary Molton; William McGowan (1773-1860) who married Mary Jane Pearsall; Edward McGowan married and was living in New Hanover County in 1820, had at least one son, Edward Starkey McGowan, who married Julia Styron; Robert McGowan who married Susannah Hooks (sister of Mary Hooks Slocumb); James McGowan, soldier of the War of 1812; Joseph McGowan (1784-1851) who married (1) Elizabeth Murdock (2) Hannah Green; George McGowan who married Mary McIntyre; Alexander McGowan who married Cassandra Sloan; Kittie, Zilphia, Nancy; Susan; Mary; and Elizabeth.

The descendants of these families are settled all over the United States.
