MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Members:

The summer nears September and our meeting. Our visit to Philadelphia was enjoyable and very rewarding. I found the name of my Fifth Great Grandfather and located where he is buried. Also uncovered a most fascinating story about his daughter, my Fourth Great Grandmother.

Each new discovery is more exciting. I heard a song the other day which really impressed me. It was called "Guardian Angel" and was sung by the Judds. The song tells of the the singers ancestors and one line states, "I may not know where I'm going, but I know where I came from".

See you September 24th.

Elizabeth G. Ellis, President

"North Carolina Item from New England Newspapers, 1754-1806, page 120:

A fracas happened on the 13th Inst., 1788, Sunday between Col BENJAMIN SHEPPARD and WILLIAM BARFIELD. Col. SHEPPARD horsewhipped BARFIELD and his apprentice boy struck Col. SHEPPARD on the cheek and cut off the side of his (SHEPPARD's) face and broke his collarbone. Col. SHEPPARD's nephew (STEPHANUS SHEPPARD - Nola), took the ax from the youth, who shot the nephew in both arms, one since amputated, and Col. SHEPPARD is dead". Left Barfields—breakfasted in the Woods—crossed Neuse River into Kingston(,) 24 Miles--Kingston is a small place of about 20 Houses situated upon an _____ (unclear) on the Banks of the Neuse River and 40 Miles from the Sea—it was settled early in the war, and was expected to become a thriving place, but has lately fallen to decay—almost half of the Houses already (built) being entirely deserted (.)

About three weeks before my Arrival here the Election for Members to the Convention for Dobbs County was held at this place, when the Federalists finding that the opposite party were likely to be returned raised a Mob--broke into the Court House where the Sheriff was casting up the poll--knocked down every Man that came in their Way and destroyed all the Tickets that had been given in the Election---a few Days after a Col. B. On my Arrival here I found that the Comptroller General with whom my Business chiefly lay, had moved from this place about two Months before to Hillsborough.

NEWBERN, April 16

Agreeable to the resolve of the General Assembly, the freemen of the county of Dobbs met at the Court House in Kinston, on the last Friday and Saturday in March, in order to elect persons to represent them in Convention at Hillsborough, on the third Monday in July next; accordingly Richard Caswell, James Glasgow, John Herritage, Bryan Whitefield and Ben Sheppard Esqrs. were candidates supposed to be in favor of the Federal Constitution; Jacob Johnston, Morris Westbrook; Isaac Groom, Abraham Baker, and Absalom Price, were supposed to be the opposers of the Federal Constitution;—The whole number of voters were three hundred and seventy-two; at sunset on Saturday the Poll was closed and the sheriff proceeded to call out the tickets; two hundred and eighty two tickets were called out, the hindmost in number on the Poll of the Antifederalists had one hundred and fifty-five votes, the foremost in number of the Federalists had only one hundred and twenty one, and the tickets coming out fast in favor of the Antifederalists, the other party seemed fully convinced they should lose their election and appeared to be much exasperated at the same, especially Col. B. Sheppard, who with sundry others cast out many aspersions and very degrading and abusive language to the other candidates, which was not returned by any of the candidates, or any person on their part with so much as one provoking word. At length Col. A. Sheppard went upon the bench where the sheriffs, inspectors, and clerks were attending their business, and swore he would beat one of the inspectors who had been peaceably and diligently attending to his business, and having a number of clubs ready prepared, the persons holding the candles were suddenly knocked or pulled down and all the candles in the Court House were instantly put out; many blows with clubs were heard to pass (but it being dark they did the most damage to the Federalists). The Antifederal candidates being unapprized of such a violent assault, and expecting better treatment, from men who would wish to wear the character of gentlemen, were in no posture of defense, and finding their lives in danger, thought it most advisable to retire privately in the dark, but one of them (to wit) Isaac Groom was overtaken in the street, by a party of their men consisting of twelve or fifteen—with clubs, who fell on him and much abused him, in so much that he was driven to the necessity of mounting his horse and riding for his life; the sheriff also related that in the time of the riot on the Court House he received a blow by a club and that the ticket box was violently taken away. [North-Carolina Gazette].

B. A PERSONAL ENCOUNTER IN DOBBS COUNTY<sup>3</sup> p76

Wilmington (N. C.)

Particulars of an unfortunate circumstance which happened in this State.

Colonel B. Shepherd, a man of considerable property and great influence in Dobbs County, a few days past, made a visit to one of his neighbors, with whom he had lived in the greatest friendship and harmony. Late in the evening the new proposed constitution became the subject of conversation. Col. Shepherd, a declared federalist, gave his opinion with freedom, and declared his wish to see it adopted. His neighbor, an anti-federalist, opposed it with much warmth, but finding all his objections readily answered by the Colonel became very warm and abusive. After receiving several gross insults, Col. Shepherd with his hand open, touched him on the cheek, and expressed himself in the following words: "Your language is too abusive to be submitted to. Nothing but your age now protects you from that punishment which you should receive." The anti-federalist immediately ran out of the house, attended by some of his followers, who armed themselves with axes. The Colonel not knowing their design left the house to return home; it being dark, they waylaid him, and with an axe gave him a stroke on the head, which, from its violence, threw him upon the ground—the blow was immediately repeated on his breast. One of his friends who was in the house, hearing his voice, ran out when he found Col. Shepherd on the ground, almost void of speech, and insensible, the blood running from his nose, mouth and ears in considerable quantities. The alarm was immediately given to Col. Shepherd's neighboring friends, who collected to resent his injury. The antifederal party hearing them approach the house concealed themselves till they had near reached the door, when one of them fired a rifle and wounded Captain Stephanus Shepherd dangerously in the arm. The federalists being more numerous overpowered the other party, and with the rifle that had been fired broke the arm of the antifederalist who fired it, and wounded him seriously, in several other places. The wounded remained in this situation for many hours. At length a Dr. Leigh arrived; and by his attention has restored him to perfect health after amputating Captain Shepherd's arm. No reconciliation has yet taken place between the parties.

BUNTIN:

I can trace my Buntin line back to James Buntin (Bunton) in Wayne County. He died in 1805 and left a will naming his wife Lyda and four children: Sarah, Jeremiah, James, and Penninah. He was granted land in 1783 (640 acres) for serving in the Revolutionary War. (Probably in N.C. since he continued to live there till he died) His son, Jeremiah, was born in 1788 and I am descended from him. Jeremiah eventually moved to Georgia. In the 1790 census James was in Wayne County with wife, one son, one daughter. In 1792, James was given 130 acres of land by his father-in-law, Jesse Brown, on land that he already lived on. It was adjacent to Jesse Brown's. (North of Little River and south of Nahunta) His wife, Lyda, left a will and died in Wayne County in 1825.

My questions are:

1. Where was James born? And when?
2. Where exactly was he buried? In a cemetery? On his farm? I checked cemetery records in Wayne County with no luck.

Pate
Cotton

MY GREAT-GRANDFATHER, WILLIAM J. PATE, MARRIED SMITHY COTTON IN WAYNE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA IN 1873. I HAVE A LOT OF INFORMATION ABOUT THE PATES, BUT VERY LITTLE ABOUT THE COTTONS.

SMITHY COTTON'S DAD WAS ISAAC COTTON (BORN ABOUT 1810 IN WAYNE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA). ISAAC'S DAD WAS PROBABLY ELIJAH COTTON (BORN ABOUT 1775) OR ONE OF HIS BROTHERS. ISAAC'S GRANDDAD WAS PROBABLY EPHRAIM COTTON WHO WAS MENTIONED IN A 1782 WAYNE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA DEED.
